

Highlights

Primary investment objective is to seek maximum total return for shareholders from both appreciation and investment income to the extent consistent with protection of invested capital.

- Generally, under normal conditions, 50-70% of the Fund's assets will be allocated to equities, and 30-50% allocated to fixed-income.
- The Fund will invest in public equities of large businesses from around the world (generally with market capitalizations in excess of $10 billion).
- Absolute return focus - investments require a compelling risk/reward proposition on an absolute basis.
- Flexible approach - invest across capital structure, geographies, sectors and market caps. Allocation to fixed income will increase in the absence of compelling equity opportunities.
- Deep research - independent, bottom-up, fundamental research process seeking to minimize risk.

S&P 500 Index includes a representative sample of 500 leading companies in leading industries of the U.S. economy. The index focuses on the large-cap segment of the market, with over 80% coverage of U.S. equities, but is also considered a proxy for the total market. Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index provides a measure of the performance of the U.S. investment grade bonds market, which includes investment grade U.S. Government bonds, investment grade corporate bonds, mortgage pass-through securities and asset-backed securities that are publicly offered for sale in the United States. The securities in the Index must have at least 1 year remaining in maturity. In addition, the securities must be denominated in U.S. dollars and must be fixed rate, nonconvertible, and taxable. 60% S&P 500/40% Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index is a hypothetical combination of unmanaged indices comprised of 60% S&P 500 Index and 40% Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index, representing the Fund's neutral mix of 60% stocks and 40% bonds. As of June 30, 2018, the SEC yield was 1.25%. The SEC Yield calculation begins with the Fund's dividend payments for the last 30 days, subtracts fund expenses (but excluding any fee waivers) and uses this number to estimate your returns for a year. This calculation is based on the price of the fund at the beginning of the month. The income yield stated here reflects prospective data and thus assumes payments collected by the fund may fluctuate.

Fund Risks

Investing in closed-end funds involves risk, including loss of principal. Closed-end fund shares may frequently trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value. It is important to remember that there are risks inherent in any investment and there is no assurance that any investment or asset class will provide positive performance over time. Value style investing presents the risk that the holdings or securities may never reach our estimate of intrinsic value because the market fails to recognize what the portfolio management team considers the true business value or because the portfolio management team has misjudged those values. In addition, value style investing may fall out of favor and underperform growth or other style investing during given periods. Non-U.S. investing presents additional risks, such as the potential for adverse political, currency, economic, social or regulatory developments in a country, including lack of liquidity, excessive taxation, and differing legal and accounting standards. Non-U.S. securities, including American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) and other depository receipts, are also subject to interest rate and currency exchange rate risks.

Fixed income securities are subject to interest rate, inflation and credit risks. Lower rated bonds, convertible securities, and other types of debt obligations involve greater risks than higher rated bonds. Mortgage securities and collateralized mortgage obligations (CMOs) are subject to prepayment risk and the risk of default on the underlying mortgages or other assets; such derivatives may increase volatility. Convertible securities are generally not investment grade and are subject to greater credit risk than higher-rated investments. High yield securities can be volatile and subject to much higher instances of default.
