Periods greater than one year are annualized. Fund performance is shown net of all fees and expenses. Performance is calculated on a total return basis which includes reinvestment of all distributions. Comparison to any index is for illustrative purposes only. The Fund does not include outperformance of any index or benchmark in its investment objectives. The index is net of withholding taxes.

The total expense ratio (as of the most recent prospectus) is 1.31%. The Advisor has contractually agreed to reimburse the Fund for Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses in excess of 1.29% through April 30, 2019. Positioning:

- Approximately 74% invested (largely unchanged since Q2 2018). Top 10 holdings amount to ~31% of total assets. The portfolio's average market cap is approximately $32.8 billion and the median market cap is $6.1 billion.
- The Fund's cash stake is about 26% (roughly consistent with Q2 2018).
- European equities continue to account for the majority of the Fund's geographic exposure, at approximately 72% of invested assets.
- Equities of companies domiciled in emerging markets now account for ~20% of invested assets. This reflects a continued increase in Brazilian investments.
- Exposure to the Pacific Basin remains ~5%.

Outlook:

- While the Index has declined since the beginning of the year, this weakness follows strong performance in 2017. We believe the correction also remains modest in view of the many mounting geo-political challenges around the world. Generally speaking, we think that valuations remain elevated. We also likely stand now at a high point in the economic cycle, and an ever higher point in the credit cycle. Lastly, we remain concerned with the many market mechanisms that could exacerbate, if not trigger, a more meaningful market correction.
- In such a challenging context, our focus remains firmly on minimizing risks of permanent capital impairments. Of course, we keep monitoring closely the companies on our coverage list to be ready to take advantage of any short-term disruption in their share prices; and we continue to look in every corner of equity markets for new ideas. In particular, we believe the Brazilian market has presented us with several compelling investment bargains in recent months. Furthermore, we think opportunities can still be found where large scale and lack of proprietary knowledge or forward understanding of businesses make it challenging for many market participants to invest.

Important Disclosures

The views expressed herein and any forward-looking statements are as of the date of this publication and are those of the portfolio management team. Future events or results may vary significantly from those expressed and are subject to change at any time in response to changing circumstances and industry developments. This information and data has been prepared from sources believed reliable, but the accuracy and completeness of the information cannot be guaranteed and is not a complete summary or statement of all available data.

Investments in mutual funds carry risks and investors may lose principal value. Stock markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. The Fund may purchase foreign securities, including American Depository Receipts (ADRs) and other depository receipts, which are subject to interest rate, currency exchange rate, economic and political risks. Foreign investments, especially those of companies in emerging markets, can be riskier, less liquid, harder to value, and more volatile than investments in the United States. Adverse political and economic developments or changes in the value of foreign currency can make it more difficult for the Fund to value the securities. Differences in tax and accounting standards, difficulties in obtaining information about foreign companies, restrictions on receiving investment proceeds from a foreign country, confiscatory foreign tax laws, and potential difficulties in enforcing contractual obligations, can all add to the risk and volatility of foreign investments. Small and mid-cap stocks involve greater risks and they can fluctuate in price more than larger company stocks.

The Fund is non-diversified and may hold fewer securities than a diversified fund because it is permitted to invest a greater percentage of its assets in a smaller number of securities. Holding fewer securities increases the risk that the value of the fund could go down because of the poor performance of a single investment.

Value style investing presents the risk that the holdings or securities may never reach their full market value because the market fails to recognize what the portfolio management team considers the true business value or because the portfolio management team has misjudged those values. In addition, value style investing may fall out of favor and underperform growth or other styles of investing during given periods.

As of 9/30/2018, the securities mentioned and corresponding position sizes were as follows: Hypera: 2.8%; Sodexo: 2.3%; Edenred: 2.0%; IMCD Group: 2.0%; Fomento Economico Mexicano: 2.4%; Ryanair Holdings: 3.6%; G8 Education: 3.5%; and Industria de Diseno Textil: 2.7%.
